Rains Benefit Saline, Gallatin Counties

Report 2.52
Inches Here;
3.40 at Galatia

Add About 20 Days to Water Supply; Crops,
Pastures Helped

Heavy week-end rains in Saline and Gallatin counties aided water supplies and helped crops and pasture lands considerably.

Harrison Kibler, at the Pankey Branch pumping station, reported that up to 7 a. m. today 2.52 inches of rain fell at Harrisburg. 3.40 fell at Galatia and 3.85 fell at Shawneetown.

The rainfalls this morning had added about 20 days to the local supply and the lake level at the Eldorado reservoir had risen three and a half or four inches at 8 a. m. today, it was reported by Kenneth Smith, water department superintendent, who said the rainfall total at Eldorado was 2.60 inches.

Operate Pumps
Kibler reported the rainfall at Harrisburg, Galatia and Shawneetown gauges as follows: Harrisburg 1.72 Saturday night, .80 Sunday; Galatia 1.80 Saturday night, 1.60 Sunday; Shawneetown 2.05 Saturday night, 1.80 Sunday.

There was no official report from Carrier Mills but reports from residents indicated that the community got about the same amount as Harrisburg and Eldorado.

The CIPS pumps on Middle Fork were started at 5 a. m. yesterday, with the 14,500 gallon per minute pump running for eight and a half hours, the 3,000 gallon 10 and a half hours and the 750 gallon 12 hours.

The city's Congo pump, which has a capacity of around 850 or 900 gallons a minute, was started at 4 a. m. yesterday and was still running today. It is possible that it could run for several days.

Blue Lake Rises
Amos Dook, Harrisburg water superintendent, said that Blue Lake rose at least a foot as a result of the rainfall, adding to the supply on hand for the community.

Yesterday's pumping was the first at the reservoir since June 3. Thomas Morgan, Saline County Soil Conservation district conservationist, said it was difficult immediately to estimate the value of the rain to the corn and soybean crops in the area but added that it has been a tremendous benefit.

The previous high heat, he said, may have in many instances killed off some of the pollen, which will result in the corn ears not being properly filled out.

The rain, he said, will be worth as much to pastures as it is to the crops. It will put enough moisture into the ground to permit the seeding of pastures and meadows this fall, he declared.

The Saturday night rain was accompanied by heavy lightning. There was one report that lightning hit the home of W. K. Miller west of Carrier Mills.

Advertise for Bids
For Construction
Of Lake Harrisburg

The City of Harrisburg today advertised for bids for the construction of Lake Harrisburg.

The sealed proposals will be received at the office of the city clerk at the city hall until 7:30 p. m. August 16, at which time they will be opened publicly and read.

The specifications call for the clearing of land between Raleigh and Galatia on which the lake proper will lie, the construction of a dam, spillway and gatehouse, raising of roadway and relocation and reconstruction of a bridge.

R. D. Brown, engineer, said he hoped that the project could get started by September and that it should be completed in between two and three months if the concrete work is done by that time.

D. F. Rumsey, lake attorney, said that work is progressing satisfactorily in the exchange of deeds needed for the project for cash, which already has been sent to the Harrisburg National bank by the Barcus-Kindred Co. of Chicago, the firm which bought the $200,000 bond issue voted by the Harrisburg residents.

Fair Opens Tonight With Hell Drivers Event; Kids Day Tomorrow

Workmen today were preparing the area in front of the grandstand for the opening of the 48th annual Saline county fair tonight, which will feature Jack Kochman's famous Hell Drivers.

Water was being pumped from the track and reports from the grounds were that barring further downpours, the show will go on as scheduled.

The Hell Drivers will put on the entire show tonight, with 28 thrill events on the program. The Kochman group features some of the best thrill drivers in the country.

The carnival was getting set for the night fairgoers and there was activity all over the grounds today, as exhibitors took in their livestock and floral hall entries.

Following the event tonight, the grounds will be open free of charge tomorrow for Kids Day, which features the 4-H show. The 4-H projects will be judged during the morning. On Tuesday and again Friday afternoon children will be admitted to carnival rides until 5 p. m. for nine cents a ride.

Programs of horse racing, horse show classes and entertainment in the form of southern Illinois talent will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights starting at 7 p. m. and on Thursday afternoon. The Thursday afternoon program also will include a machinery parade.

Friday night there will be the All-Star Talent show and Saturday evening the fair will close with the annual beauty contest to name Miss Saline County and the annual auto show.

Tomorrow night's program will be as follows: horse show events, three-gaited, lady rider, and two-year-old walking horse; entertainment; horse race; horse show, five-gaited open; entertainment; horse race; horse show, three-year-old walking horse, hand-dance; entertainment; horse race; horse show, roadster to bike; entertainment; horse race.

At Virden, 2.87 inches of rain fell Saturday and Sunday. There was a two-inch rainfall at Carlinville, the heaviest in 13 months.

Quincy had 1.22 inches in the 48-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. today. Springfield, 48. Vandalia, 1.22. Belleville 1.72, and Paducah, 1.72. Most points were getting more showers today, forecasters reported.

No measurable amounts of rain were reported before 6:30 a. m. at northern Illinois weather stations, but most crops in that area have not been suffering from a prolonged lack of water.

Cooler weather accompanied the showers. Highs averaged in the 80s and lows in the lower 60s Sunday. The weather bureau said the warmest readings reported were 83s at Belleville and Springfield.

Du Quoin reported 1.09 inch of rain from Sunday to 9 a. m. today. This was only .21 inch less than the total rainfall there for the entire month of July.

Fern is Elected
President of Fraternity
At Murray State College

Jim Fern, local student majoring in music at Murray State college, has been elected president of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia fraternity for the 1954-55 term.

Other officers of the fraternity will be Tom Hurley, Benton, Ky., senior, vice president; Bill Bigham, Paris, Tenn., junior, treasurer; Bill Maynard, Elkton, Ky., senior, secretary.

Bill Robins, senior from Anna, Ill., also a music major, will direct the organization's dance band and will also direct "Campus Lights."

Olney Man Kills
Wife, Suicides

OLNEY, Ill. (AP)—A World War II veteran killed his wife with a borrowed shotgun and then committed suicide, police said today.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Robert Lee Persinger, 31, killed his wife Mildred, 21, and then committed suicide Saturday.

Their six-year-old son, Bobby, witnessed the shooting in the family apartment. He ran screaming from the room saying "Daddy shot Mommy."

Mrs. Anna Bayless, the family's landlady, ran to a nearby grain mill and had police summoned. Both Persinger and his wife were dead when authorities arrived.

Police said Persinger had borrowed the shotgun from a friend earlier Saturday, saying he was going hunting. Mrs. Bayless said she did not hear any sounds of an argument before the shooting.

Waitresses
Replace GI KPs
In Experiment

VANCE AIR FORCE BASE, Okla., (AP)—Smiling, pretty waitresses, instead of hapless airmen on KP, served the chow here today and the GIs said the food just naturally tasted better.

The women in crisp blue and white uniforms were employees of a Chicago catering firm which has taken over all mess hall duties as part of an Air Force experiment—a trial that carries the fervent good wishes of airmen here. If the idea goes over, it may be adopted at all stateside bases.

"A couple of these dames are good looking," said Airman Bill Westfall, Great Bend, Kan., a B25 mechanic. "I didn't know what they were feeding me for watching the girls."

Real dishes, instead of trays, and regular flatware instead of field-type tableware, also helped make the meals a hit. Besides, the airmen no longer had to "pull KP" in rotation.

"I've been here 19 months and caught KP 20 times," said Airman Donald Goebell, Pittsburgh, Pa., another mechanic. "I've been losing too much time from my B25. I'm also very much in favor of waitresses."

The test began Sunday and will continue 11 months. Warrant Officer O. J. Belin, food service commander, said the Army Navy and other airbases—as well as civilian caterers—had inquired about the plan.

Col. Chester Gilger, commanding officer of the base, said the mess hall revolution would make Air Force life more attractive and allow more economical use of trained service manpower.

Two airmen said they had one complaint about the end of KP at this northern Oklahoma base. It didn't come soon enough.

Mrs. Emmitt Hibbs
Dies at Eldorado

Mary F. Hibbs, 60, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday at 7 p. m. at her home in College Heights addition of Eldorado.

She is survived by her husband, Emmitt, and the following children: Earl, Evansville, Ind.; Kenneth, Cynthia, Ky.; Mrs. Phil Leithner, Mt. Carmel, and Mrs. Margaret Lawrence, Detroit, Mich.; a brother, Ben F. Hill, Aligan; a half brother, Omer Hill, Madisonville, Ky., and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the First Methodist church in Eldorado where she was a member. Rev. C. C. Lowe will officiate, and burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery.

The body lies in state at the Eldorado funeral home.

Rites at Equality
For Frank Frohock

Frank Frohock, 73, former resident of Omaha and Equality but more recently of Harrisburg, died Saturday at 5:45 p. m. in the Eldorado Nursing Home.

He was the brother of Lee Frohock, Harrisburg resident who died a short while ago in Alto, Ill.

The funeral was today at 2 p. m. at the Equality Presbyterian church. Burial was in the Leavell Hill cemetery.

The A. K. Moore funeral home was in charge.

Granger street was open today and the project will be resumed tomorrow if weather permits. Resurfacing could not be started today because of rainy conditions. The project was halted last week while a test was made of the bituminous material being used.

Four Automobile
Crashes in Area Saturday

Soldier Suffers
Brain Concussion;
Woman is Injured

Three motor vehicle crashes that occurred during the rainstorm Saturday night and another that happened Saturday afternoon were reported by officers.

Most seriously hurt was a young soldier from Fort Campbell, Ky., in the Harrisburg hospital suffering a brain concussion.

State Policeman Guthrie Alexander said the injured soldier is Anthony J. Diotalevi, 18, who was driving a car in which George T. Staub Jr., and L. C. Roberts, the car owner, both of Fort Campbell, also were passengers. They were unhurt.

Alexander said the car, coming west on Route 13, ran off the road shortly before 7 p. m. at the L&N railroad tracks seven miles east of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Donald E. Schrittle of Terre Haute suffered a broken foot in a collision at 7:30 p. m. on Route 45 south of Pauper Crossing.

The crash involved cars driven by her husband and John Overstreet of Harrisburg. Overstreet was killed by Sheriff Paul Spangler after the crash and charges of driving while intoxicated were filed against him today.

The injured woman was brought to the Harrisburg hospital, then moved by her parents to Cape Girardeau, where she has an uncle who is a physician. The couple was en route to Cape Girardeau when the crash occurred.

Cars driven by Marion Newcomb of Harrisburg and Richard L. McGeehe of East Chicago, Ind., collided at 8 p. m. on Route 13 two miles west of the Route 1 intersection in Gallatin county, Alexander reported.

This was a sideswiping and Newcomb was given a ticket for being in the wrong lane of traffic, he stated. There were no injuries.

State Policeman Adolph Sweat reported a collision at 3 p. m. Saturday at Pauper Crossing, in which a car driven by Fred Arthur Portee of Carrier Mills hit the rear of one driven by Daniel P. Carroll, a soldier living in Chicago. Both cars were badly damaged but there were no injuries.

Sweat said a car driven by Dorothy Jean Black of Carrier Mills, Route 1, slowed to make a left turn off Route 45 at the crossing and the Carroll, behind her, also slowed. Portee, behind Carroll, hit the rear of the Carroll car.

12 Injured When
Windstorm
Hits Grandstand

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP)—Five persons remained hospitalized today with injuries suffered Saturday when a violent windstorm broke up ceremonies marking the twelfth anniversary of the Army engineers depot here.

Twelve persons were hurt when two sections of a grandstand collapsed in a sudden strong gust of wind. Of these remaining in the hospital, none was in serious condition.

The wind, accompanied by heavy rain and hail, also swept the canopy of a speakers' stand and sent it sailing into a parking lot 100 yards away, where it caused minor damage to several automobiles.

Among those on the speakers stand who escaped injury were State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell, Assistant United States Secretary of Labor Arthur Larson and Col. Leonard B. Kuhre, commander of the Engineers Depot.

Indiana Man
Heads Eagles

CHICAGO (AP)—The Fraternal Order of Eagles elected Carl M. Griffith, South Bend, Ind., its Grand Worthy President.

Other officers named at the concluding session of the 56th annual convention Sunday were Maurice Splain, Ill. City, Pa., vice president and Dr. T. V. Watson, Bloomington, Ill., chaplain.

Soldier Tumbles
Out of Jeep, Killed

CLINTON, Ill. (AP)—A sleeping soldier tumbled out of a jeep when it swerved suddenly and was killed underneath the wheels of a trailer the jeep was towing.

M-Sgt. Robert J. Murray, 40, Milwaukee, died in the mishap on U. S. 54, ten miles east of here late Saturday night. He and M-Sgt. Milton J. Kinne, the jeep driver, were en route from Joplin, Mo., to Detroit.

Murray fell out of the jeep when Kinne veered to avoid hitting a car which had stopped suddenly ahead of the jeep.

Bitter Senate Race in Tennessee and Barkley Bid
Spotlight Six Primaries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six states hold primaries this week with the spotlight on a bitter Senate race in Tennessee and the comeback bid for former vice president Alben W. Barkley in Kentucky.

The voting is scheduled in Kansas, Michigan, Missouri and West Virginia Tuesday, in Tennessee Aug. 5 and Kentucky Aug. 7.

Prizes at stake include five seats in the Senate (all but Missouri); 58 in the House, and the governorships of Kansas, Michigan and Tennessee.

Many of the incumbents, Democrats and Republicans, have little or no primary opposition and will automatically win nomination for the November election.

Setting Stage In Kentucky
Kentucky politicians expect Barkley and incumbent Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper to sail thru primary opponents and set the stage for a November match between two of the state's best vote-getters since the days of Henry Clay.

Barkley, at 76, is bidding to return to the Senate where he served four terms before stepping into the vice presidency in 1949. Cooper, elected in 1946, defeated in 1948 and re-elected in 1952, has the backing of President Eisenhower despite recent votes against two administration bills affecting power development in the TVA area.

Tennessee's primary featured a bitter contest between Sen. Estes Kefauver, seeking a second term, and Rep. Pat Sutton, a 49-year-old Navy veteran who has served in the House for six years.

Accused Of Coddling Reds
Sutton accused Kefauver of "coddling Communists" and being backed by "left" wingers from New York. Kefauver, who gained national fame as chairman of the Senate's televised crime hearings, retorted that Sutton's top backers were once associated with racketeers and gamblers in New Orleans and Miami who were among targets of his investigation.

Another famous televised Senate investigation, the Army-McCarthy hearings, produced one of the candidates in the Republican senatorial race — Knoxville lawyer Ray H. Jenkins. His opponent is Robert C. Gregory, a Memphis businessman.

The other primaries at a glance: MICHIGAN
Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson and Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams have no opposition for re-nomination. Patrick V. McNamara, former Detroit city councilman and AFL building trades union official became the apparent Democratic nominee to oppose Ferguson in November on the sudden.

Reds Threaten Invasion Of Formosa
Red China threatened today to invade Formosa and warned Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's allies not to interfere.

The threat was made by Gen. Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of the Red Chinese Army, in a propaganda broadcast over Radio Peiping.

Chu said the Communists' conquest of China would not be completed until Formosa had been "liberated" and Chiang and his "brigands" were "liquidated."

Observers in Hong Kong said Chu's suggestion that Red China's land, sea and air forces prepare themselves for the invasion was an ill-concealed attempt to take the Chinese mind off such troubles at home as floods and food shortages.

Other international developments: TUNIS — France ordered the release from detention of all Nationalist Neo-Destour party leaders in Tunisia. This move was taken in an effort to ease tension and terrorism. The Nationalists probably will be given important positions in the new home-rule government. But in Morocco terrorists prepared a month-long campaign of disturbances aimed at gaining home-rule for their country.

HANOI — The French high command reported widespread fighting between Communist sympathizers and French troops in the Red River Delta.

SAIGON — Morris Wolf, Counselor-General of the U. S. Foreign Aid program, said the United States will continue to support southeast Asian nations which resist Communism.

PANUNJION — The Communists claimed that 1-20 United Nations soldiers who were killed in Korea's demilitarized zone last Thursday had entered the Communist sector.

UN tracer observers were told the soldiers had been buried and no information on their national identification was available.

Predicts Law
Will Aid Millions
To Buy Homes

President Says
Nation Needs More
Generous Program
By United Press

The nation got a new housing law today. President Eisenhower predicted it will enable millions of families to buy homes of their own.

The new Housing Act of 1954 became official when Mr. Eisenhower penned his signature to it at a White House ceremony attended by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Republican congressional leaders.

Mr. Eisenhower said provisions of the law liberalizing terms on government-insured mortgages "will raise the housing standards of our people" and bring homeownership within reach of many families of modest income for the first time.

He frankly voiced his disappointment, however, that Congress approved only one fourth of the 140,000 new public housing units he recommended. He said he still thinks the nation needs a more generous program.

But on the whole, he said, he felt that the law represents achievements of one of his major legislative goals.

Congress meanwhile was hard at work trying to complete other "must" items on the President's program in the early part of this month.

Today's developments included: Labor Rackets: A House subcommittee investigating labor rackets was told that payment is a "common practice" on construction jobs in the Washington area. The testimony came from Archie Badger Moore, former business agent for the AFL painters union.

TVA Chairman: Mr. Eisenhower appointed Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, an Army engineers officer now stationed at Dallas, to the board of directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He said he would designate Vogel TVA chairman when the Senate confirms the board nomination Vogel succeeds Gordon R. Clapp whose term expired recently.

McCarthy: Senate debate on a resolution to censure Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was sidetracked temporarily by a hot quarrel between Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland and Sen. Wayne C. Morse (Ind-Ore.).

Knowland said Morse, in a 1952 campaign speech, quoted from a "top secret" Pentagon document, Morse said the document was given to him by former President Truman to enable him to answer campaign charges made by GOP presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Knowland said he understood that Mr. Truman "declassified" the document after Morse used it, and suggested this might have been liable for prosecution under security laws.

Earlier, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ar.) called for creation of a special committee to study specific charges against McCarthy.

Offering his first public comment during the raging controversy, McClellan indicated his opposition to the censure resolution put forth by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.). The motion accused McCarthy only of "conduct unbecoming a senator." McClellan said, and that is like calling a man a thief "without saying what he stole."

McClellan, however, did not say what effect a "bill of particulars," often an amendment to the Flanders resolution, would have on his stand—a stand expected to determine the extent of Democratic opposition to McCarthy.

But as the Senate debate rolled into its third day, some Democrats were reported trying to force an early report on the Army-McCarthy row in the hope it would bolster the anti-McCarthy case.

Unsung Heroes All

Editorial By BRUCE BOSSAT

The other day a touching little drama was enacted in the Ohio countryside. Two aging electrical linemen—the men who fix your power lines when they go down—were high on the poles repairing the ravages of a storm. Suddenly, tragedy struck.

One of the men was hit by a loose, swinging line charged with nearly 7000 volts of electricity. He was electrocuted. The other, seeing the accident, climbed desperately upward to where his friend's body dangled. He tried unsuccessfully to administer artificial respiration.

The men had been inseparable companions at work for 30 years. It was not the first time trouble had hit them, but it was the first time their luck ran down. They had labored together through long years, battling storms and their aftermath, risking their lives at great heights. Why?

So you, with hardly a thought, could flick a switch in your home and have light, or television, or ice cubes, or any of the countless other things power brings.

While they worked, these men may or may not have thought of themselves as heroes of a sort. Nevertheless, they were. And the largely unconscious heroism their efforts symbolized is something you can find again and again in the complex pattern of our modern industrial living.

The men who run the trains and buses, and streetcars seven days a week in any weather; the people who bring all kinds of services to your door; the men who do the dirty, dangerous jobs in steel mills and other basic factories; these are heroes all.

Many may not like what they are doing, may grumble about it, and wish they were somewhere else. But the important thing is: they stay on the job, see it through no matter how distasteful.

Without them, without their faithful performance day in and day out, this life we lead would be reduced to a chaotic shambles in a matter of hours.

Let us offer tribute to the elderly linemen who met sudden death atop a high pole in Ohio, and in so doing give recognition at the same time to the unconscious heroism which shows itself in big and little ways all over this land every day that passes.

As Old as Time

The Voice of America reports food riots in three provinces of Red China. They are said to reflect bitter resentment over the system by which the Communist regime extorts about 80 per cent of Chinese farmers' output for shipment to Russia in payment for goods and services ordered by Peking from Moscow.

This practice resembles, of course, the habits of the satellite Red governments in Eastern Europe. The Chinese, like the Eastern Europeans, have learned that the reward for alliance with the great Fatherland in Moscow is to have your economic substance drained off for the Kremlin's benefit.

So this is what Prime Minister Nehru of India calls the "New China." Well, the particular individual suffering may be new, but the pattern of tyranny which produces it is as old as time.

Wonder if the Indian leader had any thought for the sufferings of the ordinary Chinese when he recently walked along arm in arm with Chou En-lai, premier of China. Nehru professes to love Asia's deeply, and says we of the West don't. But he was giving the clasp of friendship to one of the biggest butchers of Asiatic manhood the earth has even seen.

"YOU Calling ME Black---Why You . . . !"

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Cong. Sutton Famous For Everything But Lawmaking; Only Legislation Introduced Is Favorable To Underworld; Filibuster Develops Senatorial Snoring Champs.

WASHINGTON.—No 1 political paradox in the nation right now is the way money is pouring into Tennessee to support a relatively unknown congressman, Pat Sutton, against one of the top men in the Democratic party, Estes Kefauver.

Sutton has never passed any legislation that would give him status either in Washington or Tennessee, though significantly he has introduced some legislation.

Two of Sutton's legislative bills, if passed, would be of great help to the underworld, which the crime-busting senior senator from Tennessee has tried to put out of business.

One bill might have permitted a long list of foreign-born racketeers, convicted of crimes or moral turpitude, to boot the rap and remain in the U. S. A.

FRIEND OF COSTELLO'S

Significantly, Sutton's bill which made more vague and fuzzy Section 241 B of the Immigration Act, was introduced after Senator Kefauver had exposed the Mafia, the Sicilian underworld group which has dominated crime in this country. As a result of the Kefauver expose, a long list of racketeers had been placed on the attorney general's list for deportation.

The exact date of Congressman Sutton's proposed amendment was April 23, 1953. Significantly, just one month before, March 23, 1953, the Justice Department had issued a final deportation order against Carlos "The Little Man" Marcello, of New Orleans, who had figured prominently in the Kefauver crime probe.

Marcello helped operate the famed Beverly Club just outside New Orleans, owned by Frank Costello and Dorothy Phil Kastell. He was branded by Kefauver as the No. 1 bad man of that area, had served one year in Atlanta for selling marijuana, was cited for contempt by Kefauver, served an additional stretch in jail, and afterward was ordered deported.

Associated with Marcello at the Beverly Club was Charles B. Murphy, secretary and treasurer of the gambling club, and so close to Costello that he held his power of attorney to handle all deals in Louisiana. Murphy was Costello's bookkeeper and also treasurer of the Louisiana Mint Co., the name given to Costello's slot-machine company in Louisiana. All this was revealed by the Kefauver committee.

And here is where the Sutton campaign comes into the picture. Murphy just happens to be a member of the board of directors of General Air Transport, Inc., the company supplying a helicopter to Congressman Sutton at an estimated cost for the campaign of around $20,000.

FACE-WIRE ASSOCIATES

Another man who figured prominently in the Kefauver hearings was Mickey McBride, owner of the race wire which linked up the bookies of the nation. McBride's former associate, Robert Venn, who operated McBride's Miami radio station, WMIE, is now Congressman Sutton's public relations man and campaign manager.

It's Venn who has staged Sutton's highly successful and highly expensive radio-TV talkshows in different parts of Tennessee, which, in view of the cost of purchasing TV-radio time, must have set the Sutton campaign back by at least $40,000, with ample funds in the kitty. However, Sutton doesn't seem to worry.

"My activities are not restricted to the talkshows alone," Venn has said, "but include advice on all phases of Sutton's campaign."

Another clue to where the Sutton money may be coming from is an other piece of legislation introduced by the imaginative young congressman. On Aug. 28, 1950, shortly after the outbreak of the Korean war and while the Kefauver crime probe was at its climax, Sutton introduced an amendment to permit the transportation of slot machines in interstate commerce.

A bill had been introduced, as a result of the Kefauver hearings, prohibiting the shipment of slot machines. But Sutton debated long and bitterly on the House floor exactly to the contrary. In the end he lost. The debate, however, did not get him in wrong with the gamblers. It set him up as their great pal.

These are clues to some of the forces that have got behind an inconspicuous member of Congress to build him up as an opponent of the nation's No. 1 crime buster SNORING CHAMPS.

The great filibuster is now over and senators—in less bitter mood—are debating privately which deserves the medal of champion snorer. Senator Kuchel of California claims that Barrett of Wyoming deserves the medal.

"I could hardly sleep a wink during the filibuster," he complained. "Senator Barrett snored so loud it kept me awake all night."

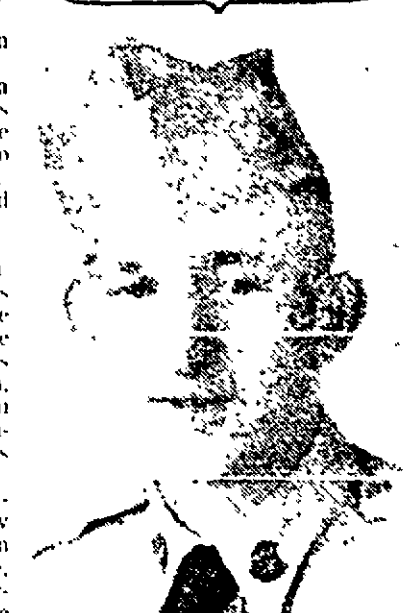

"It was really Senator Wiley," counters Barrett. "He was snoring louder than I. I can't deny snoring," he admitted. "My wife says I snore, but right now I admit nothing."

Someone else claimed it was Son Glenn Beall of Maryland who deserved the top snoring record. Wiley of Wisconsin, also an involuntary contender for the medal, denied everything except that he snored.

"I know my limitations, so I slept in the foreign relations committee room where I didn't bother anyone," Wiley countered. "Senator Barrett is just trying to shut off the blame. He is definitely snoring."

"As for me, I had a good cot, a pillow and a blanket, and slept the life of Riley—until that darn bell would ring. After I answered the quorum call, I would go down to the Senate restaurant for some cereal and a glass of milk. Then I'd go back and sleep like a baby."

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Excelsior Yours, Betty Hutton and Sophie Tucker have agreed to agree after some strained relations. Bouncin' Betty's warming up again to play the last of the Red Hot Mamas in a proposed Tucker film biography and Sophie's beamin'.

Betty was touted off the Tucker role a few months back, much to Sophie's disappointment. But a doll can change her mind, and Betty changed it. That's the reason for her surprise "Friendship, Friendship" on stage appearance at So-py's opening, at Ciro.

Audrey Dalton surprised Hollywood when it turned out that she had gone through the entire filming of Bob Hope's "Casanova's Big Night" in an "interesting condition" and gave birth to a daughter six weeks after the picture wound up. Winks L. J. Audrey.

"And I'd do it again. Why should people know? The war broke people knew, but nobody else did until I told them."

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD that Van Heflin and his wife Frances had a near brush with tragedy. One of their new baby's lungs was collapsed at birth and Frances was rushed to the hospital with complications three hours before the time set for her Caesarian. But mama and child are now out of danger.

Hollywood censors are clutching their scissors waiting for Anthony Quinn's Italian starrer, "Attila, the Hun."

Love scenes between the star and Italian beauty Sophia Loren are said to be scorchers.

Cecil B. DeMille, readying "The Ten Commandments" for the screen is insisting, as usual, that all of his actresses are intelligent as well as beautiful.

Says DeMille: "The most beautiful girl I have ever seen in Hollywood, when asked about her acting experience, replied: 'Whatever I have did, I have did good.'"

There will be no Marlene Dietrich type peek-a-bow gown for Mae West when she plays her first night-club engagement at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

Rehearsing with Louise Beavers—"Beulah, peel me a grape!"—the still well-preserved Marilyn Monroe of the early '30's, told me:

"The public knows what I have. I don't have to expose it."

Marilyn's wiggle has been compared to Mae's Diamond Lal walk but Mae can't speak with authority on the subject because she says she's never seen MM on the screen. "She's the Mae West type though," she admitted. "So is Mamma Van Horn."

Since 1941 when she made "The Heat's On," her last movie, Mae's been playing Diamond Lal in yearly stage tours and she now has plans for a television series.

There's concern she admits about her "sex" personality "even the simple things I say sound naughty." But there is, she says, spout-out interest.

Maxine and LaVerne Andrews are working up a new sister act. They lost Patty to the lure of solo stardom.

Prettiest scenery of the week: Connie Buck, the Miss Apache, beating the publicity tom toms for Burt Lancaster's "Apache."

There's box-office in TV, note. Three video names, Herb Shriner, Paul Winchell and Sam Levenson are heading current Las Vegas shows. Not to mention the three big films for Merle Oberon after her "comeback" on Ford TV Theater. The scars left on Merle's face by a make-up ailment, by the way, have now been erased through a new medical technique. She no longer requires special make-up.

Ed Gardner, retiring as Archie on Duffy's Tavern to return to writing, directing and producing, was the husband of Oscar-winner Shirley Booth when he first became an actor. Now married to pretty Simone, the mother of his two sons, he's telling it.

"Shirley wanted me to take dictation lessons. Simone wants me to be literary so our grandchildren won't remember me as a bum comic."

Nationalists Sink Red China Gunboat

TAIPEI, Formosa (CP)—Nation- alist Chinese warships sank a Communist Chinese gunboat and damaged another off Tachen island Sunday night, the official Central News Agency said today.

The agency said the Red gunboats first were sighted off the central Chekiang coast near Tachen and were immediately engaged by the Nationalist warships. The battle lasted an hour, the report said.

The Nationalists did not suffer any damage and returned safely to Tachen.

J. H. "HANK" BEASLEY, 75-year-old Eldorado blacksmith, has a specialty of shoeing gaited horses and is a familiar figure to southern Illinois county fair patrons. (Alta Porter Photo)

BY ALTA PORTER
J. H. "Hank" Beasley, 1101 Garfield street, Eldorado, is a blacksmith, 75 years of age, capable of earning $100 per week through his skill in bending straight bar steel for horse shoes.

No pension and spreading chestnut tree for "Hank". He prefers the yawningawning within the sound of pounding hooves of gaited horses as they are put through their paces before fair and race track audiences.

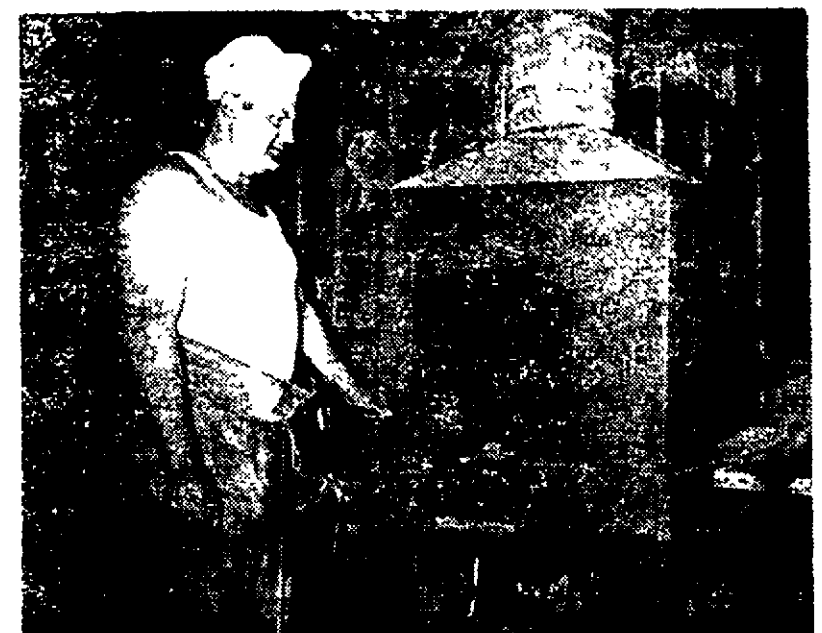

About other kinds of blacksmithing, Mr. Beasley belittles his knowledge. But, a glance around his shop shows that he can forge (not falsify) most any piece of equipment that he has need for.

Shoeing gaited horses is his specialty and has been for 18 years of the 63 years that he has been a shoer of horses.

More carefully fitted are the steel shoes of horses shod by Mr. Beasley than thousands of human feet. Some to be perfectly balanced for their gaited performance need to have shoes higher on one side than the other. Half rounds and swedges are the terms used in describing the shoes that he forms from straight bars of steel. They are built up or cut down to fit the individual feet of the horse.

His "smithy" is as much a part of the atmosphere at county fairs in southern Illinois as popcorn, lemonade or hot dogs, and it is much more vital to the success of the fair.

For, the "smithy" with the winged feet, the "smithy" with the Princess or Cinderella shoe as she hastens around the spectator-lined oval, and lucky is the owner if Hank Beasley's portable forge, bellows and anvil are parked under YOUNGER BLACKSMITH—Curtis Carr, RFD 2, West Frankfort, is a younger blacksmith, whose size and stature typify "The Village Blacksmith," and was the subject of a prize winning snapshot by the author, which appeared in the Sunday magazine of the Globe Democrat, July 13. His portable blacksmith may be seen in the barnlot at any stockfarm or dude ranch between Chicago and Cairo, St. Louis and Louisville.

Mr. Carr has customers among the owners of show horses of three states, some of whom have their own forges on their property. Such is the case at the Kane farm in Saline county, near Galatia, where there are 150 horses to be shod on the 640 acres owned by Dr. Clyde Kane, St. Louis medical doctor who breeds horses for harness racing. Buster Rendleman, Anna, Dan Campbell, West Frankfort, E. F. Tedford, Mt. Vernon, and Arnold Davis, Eldorado, are owners of running race horses in southern Illinois, shod by Mr. Carr.

Karyl Yuhac Celebrates 4th Birthday Party
Little Karyl Yuhac celebrated her fourth birthday Saturday afternoon, July 31, with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Yuhac, 815 South Land street.

Three indoor games were played with Larry Lambert, Bobby Juday and Linda Denny winning prizes.

As her neighborhood playmates sang the "Happy Birthday" song, Karyl blew out the four candles on her birthday cake which was later served with ice cream and Kool-Aid.

Nice gifts were received from Larry Dean Lambert, Nancy and Jimmy Butler, Judy and Jimmy Kuppert, Sharon O'Neil, Bobby Juday, Linda, Carla, Sandra, Janice and Johnny Denny.

Mrs. Yuhac was assisted in serving refreshments by Peggy Strader.

The Rev. Joseph Gholson, former Carrier Mills teacher, and family visited in Harrisburg today. They now reside at Cottage Hills, Ill., where Rev. Gholson is pastor of the First Baptist church. He also is superintendent of the Community Unit No. 9 school district north of Alton, which employs 60 teachers for the 12 grades of school.

Darrell Lee Evans, who was injured last week when the motorcycle he was riding and an automobile collided west of Harrisburg, remains in the Lightner hospital and is suffering serious head injuries.

Chas. Hutchison has returned to his home in Milwaukee, Wis., following a two weeks' visit in Harrisburg with his sister, Mrs. Jesse Cannon and family.

Mrs. Nellie Abney, who has been ill for the past week, is recuperating at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Hicks, 628 Largent street.

Mrs. Mae Richardson, Bankston, spent the week end in Evansville, Ind., with Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts and family. Mrs. Roberts is Mrs. Richardson's niece.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Newman and children, Janet and Bobby, Chicago, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brannock of the Bankston community. Mrs. Newman is a niece of Mrs. Brannock.

Gaiety Club Meets
With Mrs. Pearl Field
Mrs. Pearl Field entertained the Gaiety club Thursday evening, July 29, with all members present. Each member brought a bath towel and everyone's name was put into a hat and a name drawn for the towels. Pearl Field was the lucky person.

During the recreation period prizes were awarded to Mary Louise Martin, Alma Jean VanHoy, Opal Santy and Loreli Jennings. There were two grand prizes and they were awarded to Mary Louise Martin and Muriel Thomas.

Refreshments of hot dogs, potato chips, jello salad and cakes were served to the following: Elsie Lea Ammon, Elsie King, Aline Hart, Leanna Austin, Opal Santy, Alma Jean VanHoy, Pauline Beasley, Loreli Jennings, Muriel Thomas, Mary Louise Martin and the hostess.

The next meeting will be Aug. 11 at Opal Santy's.

Calendar of Meetings
There will be a regular meeting of Galatia IOOF lodge No. 433 Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The Logal Daughters Sunday school class of the First Christian church will hold its class meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship hall of the church instead of the country home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Evans. The class officers will be hostesses. Each member is invited to bring a guest.

The first flying machine to meet military specifications was accepted by the Army in August, 1909. The first specifications—drawn in December, 1907—called for minimum speed of 40 miles per hour and a sustained flight of at least one hour. The machine—built by the Wright brothers—enabled the United States Army to do its wings.

BITTER PILLAGE By Frank Gruber

At least 100 patterns of shoes to fit the horses of his customers are at hand. Owners of gaited horses from California to the East coast are satisfied customers, whose orders have caused the mailman to beat a path to the door of the Eldorado blacksmith, who incidentally is the oldest, and may be the smallest blacksmith in Illinois. Shod himself in No. 5 shoes, with feet as dainty as a toe dancer, and weighing only 122 pounds, the soft spoken, horse shoer from Eldorado little resembles the brawn and might of the traditional "village blacksmith."

He started shoeing horses at the age of 12, when his father, the late James Beasley who had a string of horses, bought the lad a set of tools with instructions to learn the trade, and learn it right. By the age of 20 he was a reputable blacksmith. As the years rolled by with a family of 13 children to support there simply wasn't any place to stop.

His preference for harness horses is "in the blood" for the Beasley family has been devoted to racing for unknown generations. His great grandfather, Isham Beasley, raced horses in Virginia before the Civil war. His grandfather migrated to Illinois in 1860, and raced gaited horses under the saddle during the summer race programs. The family operated stage coaches between Shawneetown, Benton and Mt. Vernon and were always proud of their fast stepping horses.

Hank's father, who died in 1924, owned and raced a string of horses on the southern Illinois fair circuit nearly 60 years ago and continued to do so until his death. Hank, himself has driven on many race tracks in the course of years and now his son, Robert (Jack) Beasley, owns a string of horses which he trains and drives at Sportsman's Park, Chicago. Harry, another son, lives at Central City, Ky., and is a trainer and rider for Walter Young, Morganfield, Ky. Both have horses on the Grand Circuit this year. Jack has raced some of the top three year olds of the country, breaking 2:01 and 2 apiece.

Mr. Beasley is proud of his Illinois blacksmithing license, the number of which is 13, although he says he went through the examination just to keep from getting arrested. Back in 1913 the licensing of blacksmiths in Illinois was authorized following enactment of a bill introduced in the legislature by the late Dr. Sam W. Latham, Eldorado. "I took the examination to keep out of jail," Mr. Beasley chuckled.

Little did he dream then when there were 4000 licensed blacksmiths in Illinois that the number would dwindle to 400 in his lifetime, due to motorization.

When, during the depression, the going got tough, the little man from Eldorado with the big reputation for shoeing trotters and pacers took to the road, abandoning to the "stay at homes" the work of shoeing work horses.

Though the trade of shoeing race horses is associated primarily with the racing season, it is not essentially a seasonal job. Many horses are in training the year around. Even yearling colts are shod that their feet may be properly trained, and when the blasts of winter drive Hank Beasley off the road, he carries on with the mail order business. Owners and trainers send in their specifications and Hank, with raw materials at hand, hammers out their orders.

NOTICE TO PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXPAYERS

According to law all unpaid personal property taxes were delinquent June 1, 1954.

Paragraph 692, Chapter 120, Revised Statutes of Illinois provides as follows:

"In case any person, company, or corporation shall refuse or neglect to pay the taxes imposed on him or them, when demanded, it shall be the duty of the collector to levy the same, together with the costs and charges that may accrue, by distress and sale of the personal property of the person, company or corporation who ought to pay the same."

All taxpayers concerned, please take notice and avoid needless expense and trouble by paying personal taxes without delay.

NOTICE
PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL
AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments to the Illinois Constitution will be submitted on a separate blue ballot to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 2, 1954.

LEGISLATIVE
AMENDMENT

Article IV

Section 6. The General Assembly in 1955 shall redistrict the state for the purpose of electing state senators. There shall be fifty-eight senatorial districts. Cook county shall have twenty-four of the districts. These twenty-four districts shall be located as follows: Eighteen in the territory that is within the present corporate limits of the city of Chicago; and six in the territory that is in Cook county outside such corporate limits. The remaining one hundred and one counties of the state shall have thirty-four of the senatorial districts.

All senatorial districts shall be formed of contiguous and compact territory. In their formation, area shall be the prime consideration. The senatorial districts shall be numbered one, two, three, and so forth, including fifty-eight. Each such district shall elect one senator, whose term of office shall be four years. Senators elected in districts bearing even numbers shall be elected in 1956 and every four years thereafter; and senators elected in districts bearing odd numbers shall be elected in 1958 and every four years thereafter.

Section 7. The General Assembly in 1955 and in 1963, and every ten years thereafter, shall redistrict the state for the purpose of electing state representatives. There shall be fifty-nine representative districts. In the 1955 redistricting Cook county shall have thirty of the districts. These thirty districts shall be located as follows: Twenty-three in the territory that is within the present corporate limits of the City of Chicago; and seven in the territory that is in Cook County outside such corporate limits. In the 1955 redistricting, the remaining one hundred and one counties of the state shall have twenty-nine of the representative districts. In redistricting subsequent to the 1960 census, and thereafter, the fifty-nine representative districts shall be divided among (1) that part of Cook County that is within the present corporate limits of the City of Chicago; (2) that part of Cook County that is outside such corporate limits; and (3) the remaining one hundred and one counties of the state, as nearly as may be, as the population of each of these three divisions bears to the total population of the state.

Representative districts shall be formed of contiguous and compact territory, and shall contain, as nearly as practicable, a population equal to the representative ratio; outside of Cook County, such districts shall be bounded by county lines unless the population of any county entitles it to more than one representative district. The representative ratio for the entire state shall be the quotient obtained by dividing the population of the state by fifty-nine. No representative district may contain less population than four-fifths of the representative ratio.

Three representatives shall be elected in each representative district in 1956 and every two years thereafter. The term of office shall be two years. In all elections of representatives aforesaid, each qualified voter may cast as many votes for one candidate as there are representatives to be elected, or may distribute the same, or equal parts thereof, among the candidates, as he shall see fit; and the candidates with the highest in votes shall be declared elected.

Section 8. In performing its duties under Sections 6 and 7 of this amendment, the General Assembly shall redistrict and reapportion in a single legislative enactment. If, however, the regular session of the General Assembly in 1955 as to both senatorial and representative districts or in 1963, or any ten years thereafter as to representative districts, fails by the first day of July to redistrict the state into such districts, then the redistricting shall be accomplished by a commission. Within thirty days after such first day of July, the state central committee of each of the two political parties, casting the highest votes for governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election, shall submit to the governor of the state a list of ten persons. Within thirty days thereafter, the governor shall appoint the commission of ten members, five from each list. If either of the state central committees fails to submit the list within the specified time, the governor, within the specified time, shall appoint five members of his own choice from the party of such committee. Each member of the committee shall receive $25.00 a day, but not more than $2,000 for his service.

This commission shall redistrict the state into senatorial districts and into representative districts in the manner specified above. This commission shall file with the secretary of state a full statement of the numbers of the senatorial and representative districts and their boundaries. No such statement shall be valid unless approved by seven members of such commission. After such statement is filed, senators and representatives shall be elected according to the statement and the districts therein determined, until a redistricting and reapportionment are thereafter made by the General Assembly as provided in this amendment. If, however, the statement is not filed within four months after the commission is appointed, it shall stand discharged. Thereupon, all senators and representatives shall stand for election at the next election for state senators, and all state representatives shall be nominated and elected at the next election from the state at large. Following such an election at large, the General Assembly at it next regular session shall perform the duties specified in this amendment. But if such a General Assembly fails to perform these duties, then another commission, as specified in this Section 8, shall be appointed in like manner, with like duties, and power, and with like effect; and so forth until a valid senatorial and representative redistricting and reapportionment are secured in this 1950 decade and each decade thereafter. But there can be only one valid senatorial and representative redistricting and reapportionment during a particular decade.

Schedule

While this amendment of Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV, if adopted, shall be effective upon its adoption, nevertheless the General Assembly meeting in 1955 or 1956 shall consist of fifty-one senators and one hundred and fifty-three representatives as provided in Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV of the 1870 constitution of Illinois before the adoption of this amendment.

If the 1955 General Assembly in its regular session redistricts and reapportions, as required, or if upon its failure the commission does so, then those senators, who are still residents in odd numbered districts and who were elected in 1954, will retain their offices until the expiration of their terms. But in those odd numbered districts, as created in 1955, where no senator elected in 1954 has been a resident for one year next preceding the election in 1956, a vacancy in the office of senator for such district exists. Likewise, a vacancy exists in the office of senator in such odd numbered districts where two or more senators elected in 1954 are residents of the district. In either case, a senator in such an odd numbered district shall be elected in 1956 for a term expiring in 1958. The main purpose of this schedule is to provide for a senate with a full quota of members in 1957-1958.

Any senator elected in 1954, who is eliminated from his office by the redistricting, and who is not re-elected in 1956, shall be paid the salary for 1957-1958, that he would have received if he had been able to serve the full term of his office and shall receive such other benefits as would have accrued if he had served such term.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to Article IV will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 6, 7 AND 8 OF ARTICLE IV

(Legislative Apportionment Amendment)

Explanation of Amendment
This amendment would direct the General Assembly to redistrict the State for the purpose of electing one Senator from each of 58 senatorial districts and three Representatives from each of 59 representative districts.

As concerns the Senate, area would be the "prime consideration" in the formation of the 58 districts. Downstate would be entitled to 34 districts and Cook county to 24 districts, 18 of them in Chicago and six in the county outside Chicago. As concerns the House of Representatives, the 59 districts would be based upon equal population as nearly as practical, except that in the redistricting prior to the 1960 census, downstate would be entitled to 29 districts and Cook county to 30 districts, 23 of them in Chicago and seven in the county outside Chicago. The three Representatives from each district would be elected by cumulative voting, as at present.

Should the General Assembly fail to redistrict as directed, this duty would fall on a commission appointed by the Governor. The State central committees of the two major parties would each submit a list of 10 nominees to the Governor, who would appoint five from each list, making a 10 member commission. Should the commission fail to redistrict, Senators would be elected at the next election and all Representatives would be elected from the State at large. If the resulting General Assembly still fail to redistrict, a new commission would be appointed, as before, and should this second commission fail to redistrict, legislators would again be elected at large—and so forth until a valid redistricting is secured.

Form of Ballot
For the proposed amendment to Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV of the Constitution (Legislative Apportionment).

STATE TREASURER
AMENDMENT

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 1, 2 AND 3 OF ARTICLE V

Section 1. The executive department shall consist of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction and attorney general, who shall each hold his office for the term of four years from the second Monday of January next after his election and until his successor is elected and qualified. They shall, except the lieutenant governor, reside at the seat of government during their term of office and keep the public records, books and papers there, and shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by law.

Section 2. The treasurer shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified, and shall be ineligible to said office for four years next after the end of the term for which he was elected. He may be required by the governor to give reasonable additional security, and in default of so doing his office shall be deemed vacant.

Section 3. An election for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, and attorney general, shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, in the year of our Lord 1872, and every four years thereafter; for superintendent of public instruction, and treasurer, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, in the year 1958, and every four years thereafter at such places and in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

REAL "SPONGER"—The largest sponge ever found in south Florida waters provides a comfortable resting place for tiny Toby Ebbets. The huge sponge was found 10 miles south of Miami in Biscayne Bay by Walter Thompson, Sr., who has been dragging the waters for sponges for 40 years. In the foreground is a normal size sponge.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to Article V will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 1, 2 AND 3 OF ARTICLE V

(State Treasurer Amendment)

Explanation of Amendment
This amendment changes the length of the term of office of the State Treasurer from two years to four years. The Treasurer will remain ineligible to succeed himself in office.

Form of Ballot
For the proposed amendment to Sections 1, 2 and 3 of Article V of the Constitution (State Treasurer).

PROPOSED ILLINOIS
MICHIGAN CANAL
AMENDMENT

The Illinois and Michigan canal or other canal or waterway owned by the State may be sold or leased upon such terms as may be prescribed by law. The General Assembly may appropriate for the operation and maintenance of canals and waterways owned by the State.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to the separate section of the constitution pertaining to canals and waterways will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE SEPARATE SECTION OF THE CONSTITUTION PERTAINING TO CANALS AND WATERWAYS

(Illinois and Michigan Canal Amendment)

Explanation of amendment
This amendment would eliminate:

1. the present requirement that the Illinois and Michigan canal or other canal or waterway may be sold or leased only with specific approval of a majority of the voters participating in a general State election; and
2. the provision under which the Illinois deep waterway was financed and constructed.

German Expert
Believes Flying Saucers
Are Space Ships

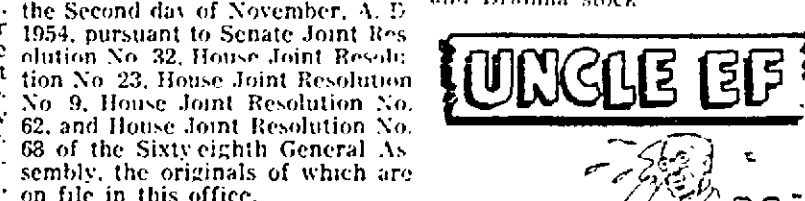

NUERNBERG, Germany—(AP)—A German rocket expert said today he believes "Flying Saucers" are space ships, possibly manned by "Vikings" from another planetary system.

"I am fully convinced these so-called 'Flying Saucers' really do exist," said Dr. Herman Oberth, who helped build Germany's V-2 rockets in World War II.

"We can't produce such 'saucers' yet, and we're fairly certain the other eight planets of our solar system lack civilizations capable of their manufacture," Oberth added in an interview.

"Thus, one concludes that these 'mysterious flying objects' are the exploring Vikings ships of another solar system, or even a far off fixed star."

New Data on Lincoln Reveals 'Old Abe' Sat Many Times as Judge on Illinois Circuit

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special) — It was "Judge" Abraham Lincoln as well as "Lawyer" Lincoln many times, according to new data on the Civil War President just placed in the State Historical Library files. It discloses "Old Abe" sat as a judge and made many decisions about one hundred years ago as he travelled the law circuit in Central Illinois counties such as Logan, Cass, DeWitt and Champaign.

State Historian Harry E. Pratt, Springfield, says it is not new that Lincoln once sat as a judge but that it is now that he sat so many times and in different counties. He said a chapter in one Lincoln biography which describes "Lincoln as a Judge" refers only to an appearance in Champaign county as a substitute for a sitting judge. The new data, he said, opens up a rich new source for Lincoln material.

Also, Pratt says, it may disclose as research workers delve into court dockets of early Illinois years — that other noted men of the state's covered wagon days had experience as jurists. Whether Lincoln was paid for acting as a judge is a moot question. Records fail to show such compensation but Pratt says it is to be presumed Lincoln was paid because he gave so much time to it.

Miss Margaret Flint, Springfield, reference librarian said it was the QUESTION: Is it necessary for a borrower to buy insurance or renew a policy required to cover a loan on his property from the agent or company designated by the lending institution?

ANSWER: No! You have the right without prejudicing your loan to select the insurance agent and insurance company of your choice. On June 30, 1954, in the Federal Court of Minneapolis, Minnesota, a consent decree was entered which forced lending institutions to terminate the practice of restricting borrowers in the purchase of insurance.

Lone Survivor of Wreck Killing 11 Given 50-50 Chance

WHITESBURG, Ky. — Eleven victims of the nation's worst single-car traffic accident were buried in six graves today while the lone survivor, still suffering from shock, showed little interest in the 50-50 chance doctors gave him to live.

Four adults and seven children were burned to death Saturday afternoon when the 13-year-old car in which they were riding rolled without brakes down a steep road on Pine Mountain, crashed into two rocky cliffs, overturned and burst into flames.

Only one of the 18 people on board survived. This wife and three children; another family of six; and a teenage girl all were burned to death in less than two minutes.

No part of the United States is entirely exempt from electrical storms, although they are comparatively rare on the Pacific coast. On the average, thunderstorms are twice as frequent in Ohio as they are in northern New England.

Cadets Revolt In Guatemala

GUATEMALA CITY — Fighting broke out in the suburbs of Guatemala City today and it was reported that army cadets had staged a revolt against the new anti-Communist government.

The government of Provisional President Col. Carlos Castillo Armas announced it is fighting a revolt of the local military garrison. An official broadcast said the situation was under control.

Reports at midday said that cadets of the Polytechnical school, aided by troops assigned there, seized school officials at dawn.

They then attacked national liberation army units quartered in the Roosevelt hospital building. It was reported.

Air forces of the government's liberation army went into action against the cadets, it was reported, and there were numerous casualties.

Named Assistant Professor at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Francis D. Modlin, Fort Scott, Kan., has been named assistant professor of graphic arts at Southern Illinois university.

Modlin's signature is said to have been on the first of the new university buildings.

Army leaders have appealed to the cadets to surrender the reports said.

ST. LOUIS — A 60-year old Columbus, O., bank teller battled currents instead of currency Sunday to make a non-stop swim back and forth across the Mississippi river. James N. Sleppy celebrated his 60th birthday just a week ago by swimming across the Ohio river at Marietta, O.

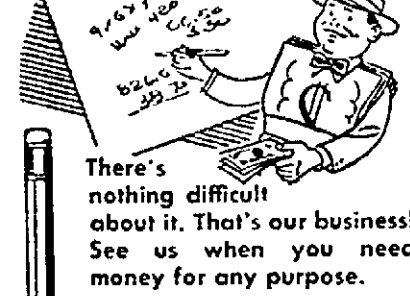

He was accompanied by friends in a cabin cruiser Sunday, but never faltered as he used a wide variety of strokes for the four and one-half mile trip. He emerged from the water smiling and only slightly winded.

Oh, yeah! Well, what about these bones you got scattered around? A greasy mess!

Confidentially, I never eat any thing but hog wash!

Indians' .703 Percentage Threatens League Record; Giants Win 2, Dodgers Lose

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians roared in to the "August Dog Days" today with a precious 2 1/2 game first place lead and a .703 won and lost percentage that is threatening the all-time American league record set by the fabulous New York Yankees of 1927.

The Indians went over the 700 mark Sunday with a 31 and 54 sweep of the Washington Senators which gave them 15 victories in 18 games and a season's record of 21 wins and 30 losses.

The Yankees of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig fame won 110 games and lost only 44 to set the A. L. record with a .714 percentage in 1927 and only two other teams in the circuit's history completed seasons with .700 percentages. They were Connie Mack's famous 1931 Philadelphia Athletics who finished with a .704 percentage and Joe McCarthy's 1939 Yankees who had a .702 mark.

Newhouse Hits Winner
Hal Newhouse singled home the decisive run in the seventh inning of the nightcap and then retired the last nine batters in order after Early Wynn scored his 15th victory of the season in the opener with a seven-hitter which was embellished with nine strikeouts.

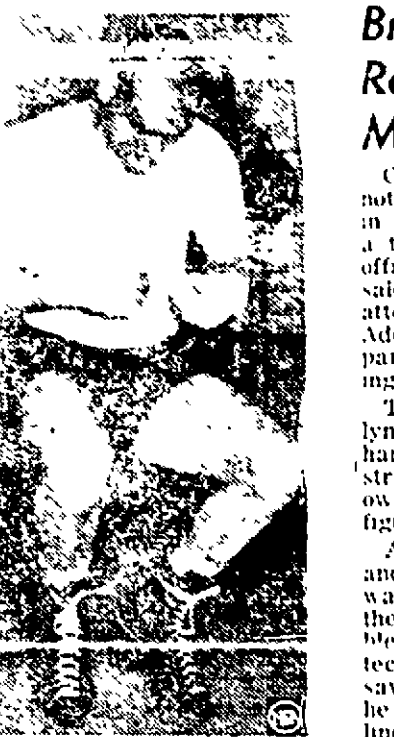

The Indians bunched four of their five hits for their three runs in the fifth inning of the first game and rallied for two runs in the seventh inning of the second game after the Senators won their 17th.

Wertz led off with his fifth homer to tie the score. Sam Dente doubled and Newhouse followed with his game-winning single.

The New York Yankees clung to the Indians' fourth place when they beat the Baltimore Orioles, 8-6 and 2-1, but Manager Casey Stengel had to use seven pitchers to win the doubleheader. Yogi Berra had four hits in the opener which Johnny Sam "saved" with his 17th in relief appearance and pinch-hitter, Bill Skovron and Enos Slaughter, drove in the Yankees' runs in the nightcap.

Williams Paces Red Sox
Ted Williams raised his average to .367 with a homer, double and single that sparked the Boston Red Sox to a 10-8 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Mel Parnell started for the Red Sox but Sid Hudson gained credit for the win.

Virgil Trucks pitched a three-hitter for his 15th win in a 12-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics after the Chicago White Sox won the opener, 6-5, when Nelson

Record of Two Million Attendance

CHICAGO — There could be nothing blue about this Monday in Milwaukee. The Braves owned a ten game win streak, the front office announced that advance sales assured a record two million attendance for the year, and Joe Adcock the fans' newest hero, apparently escaped injury in a beaning incident.

The Braves clubbed five Brooklyn pitchers for 19 hits Sunday to hand the Dodgers their fourth straight setback 11-6 and run their own winning streak into double figures.

Adcock, who slugged four homers and a double in Saturday's game, was beaned by Clem Labine in the fourth inning after he had doubled his second time up. A protective liner in his cap apparently saved him from serious injury and he was expected to get back in the lineup today.

Ed Mathews and Jackie Robinson exchanged words about the beaning, but were separated before any blows were struck.

Mathews, Del Crandall and Bill Bruton poked home runs in the Braves' assault enabling Gene Conley to stagger to his tenth victory, despite homers by Robinson, Duke Snider and Gil Hodges.

Meanwhile the Braves' ticket office predicted heavy advance sales would bring the team's home attendance mark to 2,009,826. The present National league record, set in Milwaukee last year, is 1,826,379.

The Eldorado Merchants traveled to Herrin Sunday and came home with a 10-5 victory over the strong VFW team.

Eldorado scored two runs in the second single tallies in the third and seventh and then tied the decision with a six run eighth.

Bartnicki, a 6-6 right hander, pitched his first game for Eldorado and held Herrin to eight hits and earned six. It is reported the Herrin batters considered him the best hurler they had faced all year.

Eldorado's lineup was led by Thaxton with two triples and a double. Dick Griffith had a triple and a single. Hartford had two singles, Beasley a double and Fenwick, Malone and Griffith had one each to round out the 11 hit attack.

He hit the gas pedal, but not too hard. He didn't want to jump the coupe and wake Sharon. If she woke she'd stop him, and after all, if he'd won any thing with all his hard work, he'd won the right to beat Link home on this particular night. And he would!

Ricky licked his lips and took a fresh grip on the steering wheel. He could feel the muscles in his face grow taut as he made his decision. He had more power and speed than ever before, and Link was asking for it. The one thing that stood between him and happiness, and tonight he would chase that shadow too. It had to be. It was fated. Everything was going his way now. All the omens were good. It was the night, with the guys there to see it, to run the wheels off Link for once and for all. He'd never have to do it again.

Seventy to 80. Plink lightning on the road, smooth as cream. Link stuck with him doggedly.

Go outside and look at your house RIGHT NOW!

Eighty-five. A tight grin thinned Ricky's lips. He bent over his wheel slightly, every sense alert. "You won't lead this parade home," Ricky muttered under his breath as though Link were with him. "Not this parade."

He knew Link's plan. To let Ricky stay ahead, breaking the path through the night until they were around the last S-turn. And then, with victory in sight, to let Ricky lead down the hill and across the bridge—and pass him.

Ninety. Sharon stirred slightly. Ricky cast a quick, anxious look in her direction. If she woke now... But she sighed and turned her head and slept again, more deeply. He relaxed. If she only knew... But it had to be. Just once he had to humiliate Link. Just once.

He stopped looking at his speedometer as his speed increased. He was going too fast to do anything but watch the road every second.

He was pulling away. He wanted to shout and whoop as he saw Link's lights slowly fall back. Link was eating his smoke now. And it was bitter. He could just see Link's face looking sour as a lemon.

He had Link whipped! Link couldn't stay with him! Now to pour it on!

He could have slackened off, staying just ahead, teasing with his lights, but he was going to give it to Link good.

He went into the first of the S-turns 15 miles an hour faster than he'd ever dared before. And the little coupe stuck like glue. No pull, no drift, no wheel fight, no sway. Just the torque he needed to send him around with just a faint squeal from the tires. But the coupe snuggled down to the road and held on, and he knew he was pulling away from Link with every turn of the wheel.

Ricky came out of the last turn as fast as he dared push the coupe. Now the long hill dipped before him, and the concrete bridge, and then the long, straight flat.

On the way out of the turn Ricky pushed his foot to the floor. He made it around with rubber screaming. There were the lights of town, three miles away. Here was his victorious return. Tonight no one would lead him home!

Down the hill with the engine screaming like a dive bomber, the tach bouncing like mad. Down, down, down... all the way!

Sharon awakened suddenly as they lurched out of the turn. She heard the shrill roar of the engine, felt the terrific speed. Half-awake she looked at Ricky, beginning to understand the noise, the vibration, the tense, wild look on his face.

She meant to speak his name, but it came out a sleepy moan. He sensed she was moving, and turned to look at her. Halfway down the hill, moving faster than he had ever traveled before, steering a rod that looked like a kitten and drove like a bomb.

Halfway down the hill, a meteor of speed and noise, winding all the way up as it bettered 100...

Halfway down the hill, wide open, drifting toward the center of the road. Ricky eased the wheel back to the right. The drift to the left continued.

The tense smile became a look of horror. He wanted to scream but there was no time for the sound to rise from his throat. He was still pulling the wheel to the right, his foot on the gas, when the coupe fell on the road.

The rough shoulder tossed the front end high. The pink coupe roared into the air, twisting in agony. That first surge tore Ricky from the wheel. His head met Sharon's with a bone-splintering crunch.

They were unconscious when the coupe hit its nose, bounced high, cleared the low end of the bridge and dropped into the black water top-first. Before the splash was over the little car sank out of sight, its copper-colored wire wheels turning slowly as they sank, like little waterwheels.

The coupe was still sinking when Link roared around the last S-turn in his convertible, hurling his car forward with a raging foot. As he started down the hill with the engine wide open he looked for Ricky's taillights ahead. There were no lights.

Link couldn't believe that Ricky was across the flat. It couldn't be... unless Ricky had a full-race Meteor under his hood.

Link roared across the bridge, his echo rolling over the muddy water that swirled over the little coupe. He didn't know where Ricky was, but he wouldn't give up. Gas pedal to the floor he raced on as fast as his convertible would travel. He didn't care what Ricky had. He'd catch up with him yet!

(THE END)

FBI Captures Five U. S. Reds; Four in Denver

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON 4P.—FBI agents today arrested two more Communist party leaders in Colorado on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the U. S. government.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified the two as Joseph William Scherrer, 31, of Pueblo, Colo., and his wife, Maia Scherrer, 36.

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—FBI agents captured five alleged Communist leaders in two states Sunday. Three of them were described as underground leaders.

The FBI raids nabbed four persons on a quiet midtown street in Denver Sunday night, apparently as they were attempting to rendezvous. A fifth man was captured at Los Angeles, Calif.

The five were charged with conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the government by force.

The four arrested in Denver were arraigned by U. S. Commissioner Joseph D. Neff in a mid-night session. He set bond at $100,000 each. None could post it, and they were turned over to the U. S. Marshal.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover indicated in Washington that the prize catch was Arthur Bary, 42. Bary was described as one of the party's "outstanding Street Communist underground leaders." Ironically, Hoover said, Bary had been assigned to find out how the FBI underground.

The four were taken to FBI headquarters in Denver and held incommunicado until the United States Commissioner could be located to arraign them. They were charged with violating the Smith Act, the conspiracy statute under which 110 other Communist party leaders have been arrested since 1949.

Bagged Head

The body of Sir Walter Raleigh was buried in St. Margaret's church, London. The head was embalmed and kept in a leather bag by his widow as long as she lived. What became of it after it was inherited by her son is not known.

Harold Zepelin, 29, called a party organizer for Colorado and an underground leader.

At Los Angeles agents seized Patricia Julia Blau, 42. They described her as a former Communist party leader in Colorado and a contact with Red leaders now
